Pat McAuliff – Dir. Fire Science and EMS at Collin College

Pat McAuliff is the Director of Fire Science and EMS at Collin College in McKinney, TX. He came to the college when it first opened in 1986 with a vision and a passion for training area firefighters. With the recent graduation of Collin College Fire Academy Class #53, over 1150 area firefighters have completed the rigorous training program.

His innovative design concept for the Fire-Rescue Complex at the Central Park Campus has drawn state and national attention. He holds a B.S. Degree in Technical Education from Texas A&M University and is certified as a Master Instructor.

Since the formation of the Curriculum and Testing Committee for the Texas Commission on Fire Protection 1989, he has served as the Presiding Officer. The group is responsible for the development of certification curricula and testing for all firefighter, fire officer, inspector, investigator, and driver operator certifications in the State of Texas.

Ten Lessons Learned from the Future Vision Pilot

As The Rotary Foundation prepares for the global launch of its new grant model next July, a number of changes are being made based on feedback from Future Vision pilot districts.

Rotarians can expect to see these improvements in coming months:

1. A user-friendly online system for district qualification and grant application
2. A streamlined global grant application process with clearly defined expectations and a list of resources to help applicants get started
3. Clear guidelines on how to meet global grant requirements for area of focus and sustainability
4. Expanded criteria in two areas of focus: basic education and literacy now includes secondary education, and disease prevention and treatment covers prevention of noncommunicable diseases and health promotion; in addition, all areas of focus allow certain types of infrastructure projects
5. The elimination of a requirement that applicants for global grant scholarships provide proof of language testing
6. Adjustments to the composition of vocational training teams, reducing the minimum number of travelers to three and allowing, with Foundation approval, the team leader to be a non-Rotarian
7. Funding for international travel to implement global grant projects
8. An option for a contingency fund of up to 20 percent of the total district grant spending plan
9. A reduction in the minimum budget for a packaged grant from US$50,000 to $20,000
10. The addition of a district stewardship subcommittee to ensure careful management of grant funds

The Foundation expects these improvements to help Rotarians develop projects that meet the eligibility requirements for global grants, thus reducing the time from application through payment.

Olympic athletes help Rotary promote polio eradication

The best athletes in the world have gathered in London for the 2012 Summer Olympics, and some of them are helping to spread the word about Rotary's campaign to rid the world of polio.

Rotarians in Plymouth, Devon, England, used a few connections to line up Olympic divers Tom Daley and Tonia Couch for "This Close" posters, which have been displayed around Plymouth and at the training facility used by Ghana's Olympic team.

Darren Hands, a member of the Rotary Club of Plympton, was put in contact with the athletes' coach by a photographer friend who takes pictures of the divers regularly. The coach was happy to approach Daley and Couch and help make arrangements, Hands says.

"We did the shoot quite early in the morning so as not to impede their training," he says. "We then produced various-size posters and postcards, as well as got the images printed in the local press and onto club and district websites."

District 1290 received a public relations grant to use Couch's image on bus advertisements around the counties of Devon and Cornwall to raise her image during the Olympics, promote Rotary's polio efforts, and help with a membership drive.

"The campaign has received a lot of praise," says Hands. "Together with the Rotary Club of Grantham's Swimarathon, we were awarded the Rotary in Great Britain and Ireland (RIBI) PR Award at our national conference back in April."

Other Olympic athletes participating in the "This Close" campaign are more than a dozen members of India's team, including members of the men's boxing, men's and women's weightlifting, and men's and women's wrestling teams.

Appealing to parents, wrestler Sushil Kum, a bronze medalist at the 2008 Beijing games, said: "In 1988, 500 children were getting affected by polio in India every day. Today, our country is reaching steadily toward eradication of polio. We need your help to win this fight."

And Vijender Singh, a member of the boxing team who won a bronze medal in Beijing, said: "Polio vaccine can save a child from polio paralysis. Let us ensure that children are not paralyzed by giving them the vital drops."

Home hosting and cleanup

Rotarians have displayed the Olympic spirit in other ways, as well. Tony Betts, a member of the Rotary Club of Redbridge, Greater London, volunteered to take part in home hosting organized through District 1130 and is playing host to a Rotarian couple from Jacksonville, Florida, USA, who are attending the games.

A Rotarian for six years, Betts says he has always been interested in the international aspect of Rotary and in meeting people from around the world. "It's why I've attended the RI convention every year since I became a member," he says. "I've always seen Rotary as bigger than just your local club."

Through an initiative of the RIBI Olympic Committee called Work for Purpose, more than 300 volunteers signed up to work as cleaners in the athletic village to raise money for various Rotary projects. One effort includes members of the Rotary clubs of Hatfield and Stevenage, Hertfordshire, whose work will benefit several local children's hospices.

Rotarians have also signed up to clean up after the games.

"Rotary and the Olympics share a common ethos," says Debbie Hodge, governor of District 1260. "That is the building of a more peaceful world."

Today's Thoughts in Honor of Book Lovers Day– August 9

You don't have to burn books to destroy a culture. Just get people to stop reading them.

- Ray Bradbury (1990 – 2012)

“The right half of the brain controls the left half of the body. This means that only left handed people are in their right mind.”

- Anonymous

Three men were sitting in a bar lying about how under their thumb they had their wives.

The first two kept bragging about how they could get their wives to do anything.

They looked at the third man and he said, "I have my wife so under my thumb that the other day I had her crawling towards me on her hands and knees."

Both of the other men were very impressed and asked him how he had managed that.

The man replied, "Well, I was lying under the bed and she crawled over and said, 'Come out and fight like a man!'"
