The Seven Habits of Highly Effective Rotarians: Part I

This article was first written for Rotarians on the Internet (ROTI) and has been published in over 150 Rotary club bulletins and translated into French, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, German and Thai languages after being on the ROTI website Dr. Jagdish is a charter member of ROTI.

HABIT ONE: ATTENDANCE

They always make it a point to attend as many Rotary meetings of their clubs and also of other clubs, as is possible. They are aware that attending Rotary meetings is a very important part of being a Rotarian. They do not miss any chance to attend such meetings. They also attend meetings of various committees of which they are members and even some others if they are invited. They are keen to attend various district functions and all projects of their club. They are proud to attend the district assembly and the district conference every year. They would try to attend the Rotary convention at least once in five years.

HABIT TWO: FELLOWSHIP

They enjoy meeting other Rotarians. They often feel that in some of the Rotary functions meeting and exchanging greetings with others is often as important as actual transactions of the meeting. They go out of their way to talk to those whom they do not know. They go by the dictum that a stranger is a friend whom you have not yet met. Even outside Rotary they enjoy meeting people and getting acquainted with them. At large gatherings of Rotarians they try to meet members from other clubs, rather than fraternizing with members of their own club.

A look at the Future Vision pilot's first year

One hundred Rotary districts and their member clubs set a brisk pace in the first year of the Future Vision pilot, recording many milestones along the way.

The Rotary Foundation awarded 208 global grants, totaling almost US$12 million, in 2010-11. These grants supported large-scale, sustainable activities aligned with Rotary's areas of focus in 46 countries.

The first global grant project, completed in July, proved highly effective in preventing the spread of dengue fever in a community in Surakarta, Central Java, Indonesia. Other global grant efforts helped provide thousands of people in Sierra Leone with access to clean water, boosted malaria prevention and treatment in Mali, improved sanitation in India, and expanded literacy in Kenya, to name a few. The grants also funded vocational training teams and equipped scholars to work in sustainable development, health care, peace and conflict resolution, and other fields related to the areas of focus.

More than $6 million in Rotary Foundation District Grants supported local and international service projects. District 2650 (Japan) distributed funds from a $271,000 grant to 42 club projects, which included providing computers, sewing machines, and other vocational training equipment to a village in the Philippines, and restoring an elementary school in China's Shaanxi Province.

The Foundation also formed strategic partnerships with Aga Khan University, a private, nonsectarian university with campuses worldwide, and Oikocredit International, a Netherlands-based cooperative financial institution. Through the partnership with Aga Khan University, Rotary clubs can establish vocational training teams and nursing scholarships with support from packaged global grants. Through the partnership with Oikocredit, clubs can work with microfinance institutions in Oikocredit's network, also with support from packaged global grants, and help reduce poverty by identifying local needs, developing effective approaches, and structuring training programs to improve entrepreneurs' business skills.

Pilot feedback

Pilot clubs and districts are helping to verify what works in the Foundation's new grant model under the Future Vision Plan. Based on feedback from Rotarians, the Foundation is also making operational improvements during the pilot. Those implemented in 2010-11 include:

- Making the temporary online system easier to use
- Expanding the definition of disease prevention and treatment to include injuries that, left untreated, would lead to disease
- Allowing a contingency fund of up to 20 percent in district grant spending plans
- Eliminating the requirement that scholars provide proof of language testing to the Foundation
- Eliminating the requirement that scholars be hosted by the district where their study institution is located, provided that scholars live in their host district
- Eliminating the requirement that, for a proposed exchange of vocational training teams, members of the second team be identified at the time of application for a global grant

- Allowing pilot districts to participate in the Ambassadorial Scholarships program during the first year of the pilot to ease the transition

“We are making changes to make the model easier for pilot districts. But any changes to the fundamental structure of Future Vision, we are holding for the full world launch [1 July 2013] so we may determine whether there truly is Rotarian demand for the changes that are suggested,” says Foundation Trustee Chair Bill Boyd.

The areas of focus under Future Vision, which are also included in the RI Strategic Plan, allow Rotarians to carry out projects with a common purpose, in a way that benefits as many people as possible, Boyd says.

“All of us should work to build those six areas of focus into the culture and thinking of every Rotary club,” he says. “We should seek opportunities to build partnerships between clubs and districts, our Rotary Foundation, and other organizations that can join us in our mission to advance world understanding, goodwill, and peace through the improvement of health, the support of education, and the alleviation of poverty.”

Today's Thoughts in Honor of

Confucius Day – September 29

To be able under all circumstances to practice five things constitutes perfect virtue; these five things are gravity, generosity of soul, sincerity, earnestness and kindness.

- Confucius (551 BC – 479 BC)

National Golf Day – October 4

If you watch a game, it's fun. If you play at it, it's recreation. If you work at it, it's golf.

- Bob Hope (1903 – 2003)

Job Performance Review

"Suppose," says the old salt of a sea captain, testing his new recruit, "that a sudden storm springs up on your starboard side. What would you do?"

"Throw out an anchor, sir," says the new sailor.

"And what would you do if another storm sprang up aft?"

"Throw out another anchor, sir," the raw recruit replies.

"Now," says the captain, "a storm springs up forward of the ship. What would you do this time?"

"Throw out another anchor, Captain."

"Hold on, hold on. Where are you getting all these anchors from?"

"From the same place you're getting your storms, sir," replied the new recruit.

He got to keep his job.
