Flag Building Party

Due to the overwhelming success of our flag program this year, we are running short on flags for the last flag holiday of the season. On Wednesday, October 7th at 5:00 PM the club is looking for volunteers to come to our storage shed to build 50+ flags. If we have enough volunteers we should be able to finish in about an hour to an hour and a half. Please mark your calendars, Thanks.

Youth Exchange Update

This year District 5810 will be the home of four Rotary Exchange Students. These Students are:

- Raquel do Oliveira Ribeiro, from Brazil, hosted by the Grand Prairie Metro Rotary Club;
- Jordi Pindado, from France, hosted by the Grand Prairie Metro Rotary Club;
- Betania Cecenarro, from Argentina, hosted by the Preston Center Rotary Club;
- Thomas Deitz, from Germany, hosted by the Addison Rotary Club and the Plano Rotary Club

Hopefully you will have the opportunity to meet these students over the next few months. While the number of inbound students is down from previous years we believe this is temporary and look forward to stronger numbers next year. In the next few weeks, letters will be sent to the President-Elect of all District Rotary Clubs seeking support for and involvement in the Youth Exchange programs. The District Youth Exchange Committee appreciates your interest.

Today's Thoughts in Honor of International Day for the Elderly – October 1

It spite of illness, in spite even of the archenemy sorrow, one can remain alive long past the usual date of disintegration if one is unafraid of change, insatiable in intellectual curiosity, interested in big things, and happy in a small way.

- Edith Wharton (1862 – 1937)

World Teacher's Day – October 5

"We are like children, who stand in need of masters to enlighten us and direct us; and God has provided for this, by appointing his angels to be our teachers and guides."

- Saint Thomas Aquinas (1225 – 1274)

My wife and I were traveling by car from Victoria to Prince George.

After almost eleven hours on the road, we were too tired to continue, and decide to take a room, but we only planned to sleep for four hours and then get back on the road. When we checked out four hours later, the desk clerk hands us a bill for $350.00. I explode and demand to know why the charge is so high. I tell the clerk although it's a nice hotel; the rooms certainly aren't worth $350.00

Then the clerk tells me that $350.00 is the 'standard rate'. I insisted on speaking to the Manager. The Manager appears, listens to me, and then explains that the hotel has an Olympic-sized pool and a huge conference center that were available for us to use. 'But we didn't use them.' I said, 'Well, they are here, and you could have,' explains the Manager. He goes on to explain we could also have taken in one of the shows for which the hotel is famous. 'We have the best entertainers from New York, Hollywood, and Las Vegas perform here,' the Manager says. 'But we didn't go to any of those shows,' I said, 'Well, we have them, and you could have,' the Manager replies. No matter what amenity the Manager mentions, I reply, 'But we didn't use it!' The Manager is unmoved, and eventually I gave up and agreed to pay.

I write a check and give it to the Manager. The Manager is surprised when he looks at the check. 'But sir,' 'this check is only made out for $50.00.' 'That's correct, as I charged you $300.00 for sleeping with my wife.' 'But I didn't!' exclaims the Manager.

'Well, too bad, she was here, and you could have.'

Using social networking to reach youth

Rotarians should embrace social networking tools as a means to connect with young people and promote youth programs, says Chuck Frazier, general coordinator of the Youth Services Resource Group.

"There has been a massive change in technology that better allows people to promote and market," says Frazier, a member of the Rotary Club of Emporia, Kansas, USA, and past governor of District 5710. "We're encouraging Rotarians to join social networks such as Facebook and Twitter to better connect with youth program participants.

"With social networking, members can share their experiences and the benefits of joining a youth program," Frazier adds. "Being a part of these programs is fun. We need to get that message out there."

Recognizing the importance of youth in Rotary's future, Past RI President Wilfrid J. Wilkinson appointed the Youth Services Resource Group in 2007-08. The group works to increase membership in Rotary's youth programs: Rotaract, Interact, Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA), and Rotary Youth Exchange.

Frazier says one of his group's goals has been to help build closer relationships between youth program participants and their sponsor club or district. The group also wants to get clubs and districts -- and youth -- involved with more than one program.

"Just like business, once you have a client who knows your product, you try to sell them more of your other products," he says. "You want to keep those clients. Stronger interaction will only make both stronger."

Frazier says he's been involved in Rotary's youth programs for decades. He hosted his first Youth Exchange student in 1981. His daughter is a former exchange student, and his son was a RYLA participant.

"I have a great deal of admiration and respect for these programs," he says. "I want to see all four programs grow. What we'd like to see happen, ultimately, is to keep them involved and keep involving them more."

Frazier says the Youth Services Resource Group works year round to promote the future of Rotary through the next generation of Rotarians.

"There are all kinds of possibilities if we just let current youth program participants know about other Rotary programs that are out there for them," he says. "With the technology available now, Rotarians and young people can more effectively spread the word about Rotary."

This is the fourth in a series of articles for New Generations Month about Rotary youth programs:
