Rotarians respond to polio-affected family's needs in Pakistan

A polio-affected Afghan family living in Karachi, Sind, Pakistan, found Rotary a ready source of help in a time of great need.

In 2008, two boys in the family contracted polio. Their father took them to the Artificial Limbs Center run by the Rotary Club of Karachi. There, the brothers were fitted with prosthetic limbs free of charge, thanks to the generous support of local Rotarians.

The center provides about 5,000 prosthetics free of cost every year to polio victims and amputees and is a permanent polio immunization site serving the surrounding population. Not wanting his third son to suffer from polio, the father had him vaccinated against the disease.

In July, Karachi Rotarians invited the three brothers to meet international cricketing superstar Shahid Afridi at a polio eradication workshop. Afridi is active in Pakistan's antipolio effort and a participant in Rotary's "This Close" campaign.

"[He] greeted them warmly and shook hands with the boys and their father," says Pakistan National PolioPlus Committee Chair Aziz Memon.

At the workshop, representatives from the World Health Organization, UNICEF, Rotary, and Pakistan's government provided updates on the areas of the country at high risk for polio and outlined communications strategies, emphasizing the government's leadership role in the eradication campaign.

Afridi, a Pashtun from the Khyber Agency in the Federally Administered Tribal Areas, also addressed the workshop. In 2011, Pashtuns accounted for more than 75 percent of Pakistan's polio cases although the group makes up only 15 percent of the population.

"[He] said he shared our vision and was ready to support us in this battle against polio and pledged his involvement with Rotary as needed," says Memon. "We have seen the support that celebrities of this stature can bring to national awareness efforts in other countries, and we have no doubt that Mr. Afridi will boost interest in the campaign and in ensuring that every child in Pakistan is vaccinated."

Brush up on a few Portuguese words for the 2013 RI Convention in Lisbon

Portugal is home to 0.15 percent of the global population – a fact that belies the country's outsize influence. Portuguese ranks seventh in the world in the number of native speakers and is an official language in nine countries.

Rotarians who attend the 2013 RI Convention in Lisbon, 23-26 June, will likely meet Portuguese speakers with a variety of accents, from Angola to Brazil to Macau to Mozambique.

In tourist areas, you will also find it easy to communicate in English, but if you can speak a bit of the local language, you'll better appreciate Lisbon and all it has to offer. Here's a primer to get you started.

- Hello! Olá!
- Pleased to meet you. Muito prazer.
- Good morning/afternoon/evening! Bom dia/Boa tarde/Boa noite!
- Please. Por favor.
- Thank you. Obrigado (women say obrigada).
- My name is ... O meu nome é ... or Chamo-me ...
- I don't speak Portuguese. Do you speak English? Desculpe, não falo português. Fala inglês?
- I don't understand. Não entendo.
- Excuse me, where is ... ? Desculpe, onde fica ... ?
- Goodbye! Adeus!
- See you soon! Até logo!

Today's Thoughts in Honor of

Evaluate Your Life Day– October 19

Life ain't like books. Books got somebody writin' 'em and tryin' to entertain ya. Life is more like set of Legos. Unless you take care of 'em, you lose a few pieces and you end up steppin' on 'em with bare feet. You gotta take care of your life.

- Laura Moncur (1969 –)

Babbling Day – October 21

“There is nothing so annoying as to have two people talking when you're busy interrupting.”

- Mark Twain (1835 – 1910)
