Naval Hospital, Pensacola, FL

Hospital Affiliations

BaylorScott&White McKinney

Dr. Taylor completed his Bachelor of Arts degree in Biology at the University of New Orleans in Louisiana after serving 8 years enlisted in the United States Navy. He attended medical school at Louisiana State University School of Health Sciences in Shreveport, Louisiana under the auspices of the Navy Health Professions Scholarship Program.

He completed his internship in Family Practice at the Naval Hospital in Pensacola, Florida. After serving a tour as a general medical officer onboard an overseas based ship, he returned to the Naval Hospital in Pensacola and completed his residency in Family Practice.

He proceeded to serve 15 years in the Navy after an overseas tour in Okinawa, Japan and various subsequent deployments. He is a veteran of the war in Iraq having served a 13 month tour in Fallujah, Iraq where he was involved in combat operations. He is board certified by the American Board of Family Medicine and is fully bilingual and bicultural in Spanish.

Volunteers Needed

Rotary Clubs of McKinney will be operating a booth at Home for the Holidays on the square. Our purpose is to introduce the planned All-Abilities Playground to the community. This integrated playspace at Bonnie Wenk Park will offer specialized equipment for children with special needs and can be enjoyed by all kids.

We need 2-3 volunteers per 2-hour shift throughout the weekend of November 26th through the 29th. Teen volunteers are welcome, but there should be at least one adult signed up per shift. Younger children are welcome to attend with adult volunteers. Please sign up with Juli if you can help kick off this great project.

Our club is also in need of someone to join the team of people who help with the data entry for subscribers to our Flag Program. Please contact Chuck Koehler if you are willing and able to help in this vital role.

Celebrities, Health Officials Come Together to Hail Progress Toward Polio's End

After a historic year during which transmission of the wild poliovirus vanished from Nigeria and the continent of Africa, the crippling disease is closer than ever to being eradicated worldwide, said top health experts at Rotary's third annual World Polio Day event on 23 October in New York City.

More than 150 people attended the special Livestream program co-sponsored by UNICEF, and thousands more around the world watched online. Jeffrey Kluger, Time magazine's editor at large, moderated the event.

Anthony Lake, executive director of UNICEF, lauded the Global Polio Eradication Initiative's efforts. After nearly 30 years, the GPEI, which includes Rotary, the World Health Organization, UNICEF, and U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and is supported by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, is on the cusp of ending polio. It would be only the second human disease ever to be eradicated.

Lake urged the partners not to lose their momentum: "At a time when the world is torn by conflicts, when the bonds among people seem weaker and more frayed than ever before, ending polio will be not only one of humanity's greatest achievements, but a singular and striking example of what can be achieved when diverse partners are driven by a common goal -- when we act as one," he said.

The event highlighted recent milestones in polio eradication: In July, Nigeria marked one year without a case, and in August, the entire African continent celebrated one year without an outbreak. That leaves just two countries where the virus is regularly spreading: Afghanistan and Pakistan.

In a question-and-answer session with Kluger, Dr. John Vertefeuille, polio incident manager for the CDC, discussed the reasons for Nigeria's success, including strong political commitment at all levels and the support and engagement of religious and community leaders.

"The foundation to Nigeria's success has been the incredible dedication of tens of thousands of health workers who have worked, often in difficult circumstances, to ensure that all children are reached with the polio vaccine," said Vertefeuille.

Innovative changes, including strategies for reaching children who were often missed in the past, better mechanisms for ensuring the accountability of health workers, and the engagement of doctors, journalists, and polio survivors, also aided Nigeria in reaching its goal.

Polio eradication is progressing in Afghanistan and Pakistan. In Afghanistan, cases dropped from 28 in 2014 to 13 so far this year. In Pakistan, transmission of the disease dropped dramatically, from 306 cases to 38.

Kluger and Vertefeuille agreed that eradicating polio is a wise financial investment. Vertefeuille said financial savings of $50 billion are projected over the next 20 years.

Failure to eradicate polio, he noted, could result in a global resurgence of the disease, with 200,000 new cases every single year within 10 years.

ROTARY BOOSTS FUNDING

Rotary General Secretary John Hewko announced an additional $40.4 million Rotary will direct to the fight against polio. More than $26 million will go to African countries to prevent the disease from returning. Rotary has also earmarked $5.3 million for India, $6.7 million for Pakistan, and $400,000 for Iraq. Nearly $1 million will support immunization activities and surveillance. Since 1979, Rotary has contributed more than $1.5 billion to polio eradication.

“Our program this evening will show how far we have come -- and what we still have to do -- to slam the door on polio for good,” said Hewko. “Once we do, not only will we end the suffering of children from this entirely preventable disease -- we will also create a blueprint for the next major global health initiative and leave in place resources to protect the world’s health in the future.”

Kurt was going out with a nice girl and finally popped the question. "Will you marry me, darling?" he asked.

Lisa smiled coyly and said, "Yes, if you'll buy me a mink."

Kurt thought for a moment and then replied, "Okay, it's a deal, on one condition."

"What is that?" Lisa asked.

"You'll have to clean the cage," Kurt replied.
