Membership

Who do you know that you can share your enthusiasm and passion for Rotary with, and simultaneously enjoy their fellowship on a weekly basis? They could be a friend, a friend of a friend, a neighbor, an acquaintance, a business associate, colleagues, or even a family member. You know they are a quality person and would make a great Rotarian, but guess what; they have never been asked. Now is the time to just take a few minutes and give them a call. Talk to them. Tell them about your club and the impact you have with projects in your community and around the world. Who wouldn't want to be part of an organization that has a worldwide reputation of trust and integrity that includes a long history of accomplishments helping people less fortunate than ourselves in every corner of the earth?

Only 20% of Rotarians ever ask someone else to become a member. Don't be counted in the 80% category. It may be appropriate in many circumstances to ask your potential member to come to your club meeting to experience the fellowship and enjoy seeing a quality speaker, or maybe invite them to participate in a club community project where they feel the deep satisfaction of helping others. If they come away feeling they have just added value and purpose to their life, invite them again to come to another meeting or get them involved in another club project. I know there are as many ideas to get a new member as there are Rotarians. I know it sounds simple but when you see them engage, just ask, would you like to become a member of our Rotary Club?

Five reasons to support The Rotary Foundation

Three generations of the Simmermon family are planning to attend the 2012 RI Convention in Bangkok, Thailand, 6-9 May.

The convention will be the ninth for James E. Simmermon, 85, a member of the Rotary Club of Oakmont Verona, Pennsylvania, USA, who attended the New Orleans convention last year. He says that hearing Bill Gates, cochair of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, commend Rotarians for their polio eradication efforts ranks as one of the highlights of his Rotary experience.

When James suggested making the 2012 convention a family affair, his son William, a member of the Rotary Club of Highlands Ranch (Littleton), Colorado, agreed. And William and his wife decided that the convention would be an invaluable experience for their son Denver as well. The middle school student is involved in the district's youth leadership program.

"The opportunity to spend time with my father, and for us to experience a big Rotary event together, is priceless," William says. "I have traveled around the world for business, and I have been to Bangkok before. I sort of see this as a once-in-a-lifetime experience, to have three generations of my family going."

New perspective

For his part, James feels every Rotarian should attend at least one convention.

"You get a whole new perspective on what Rotary does," he says. "You may know a lot about what your own club is doing, but when you get to a convention, you gain a better understanding of what Rotary is doing around the world."

William, who has been a Rotarian for six years, says he took part in service projects with his dad as a child and attended Rotary club lunches. Now he is making a deliberate effort to include his family in the Rotary experience.

"My wife and son attend meetings and club activities, so Rotary does not conflict with family time," William says. "It has enhanced our family time because we are all there together."

William says Rotary also helps him as a parent. "The same values Rotary stands for are values we believe in as a family. We want to pass along those values."

Early deadline

It's not too late to make plans to join the Simmermons and thousands of other Rotarians in Bangkok. Register by 1 December and take advantage of the lowest registration prices in a decade.

Rotary's 103rd convention will offer attendees an unforgettable experience in a city filled with exotic temples, unique museums, and ancient attractions. The convention also promises inspiring speakers, including two who have spent their lives promoting economic and community development, one of Rotary's areas of focus.

Nobel Peace Prize winner Muhammad Yunus is the founder of Grameen Bank, which provides small loans to entrepreneurs, particularly women, in impoverished communities. And Hugh Evans is cofounder and CEO of the Global Poverty Project, an organization dedicated to motivating people to take action to end extreme poverty. Recently, the organization added polio eradication to its list of campaigns.

Today's Thoughts in Honor of

Santas' List Day – December 4

Somehow, not only for Christmas, But all the long year through, The joy that you give to others, Is the joy that comes back to you. And the more you spend in blessing, The poor and lonely and sad, The more of your heart's possessing, Returns to you glad.

- John Greenleaf Whittier (1807 – 1892)

Repeal Prohibition Day – December 5

Always do sober what you said you'd do drunk. That will teach you to keep your mouth shut.

- Ernest Hemingway (1899 – 1961)

Timberrr!!!!

While working as a radiology technician in a hospital emergency room, I took x-rays of a trauma patient. I brought the films to our radiologist, who studied the multiple fractures of the femurs and pelvis.

"What happened to this patient?" he asked in astonishment.

"He fell out of a tree," I reported.

The radiologist wanted to know what the patient was doing up a tree.

"I'm not sure, but his paperwork states he works for Bob's Expert Tree Service."

Gazing intently at the x-rays, the radiologist blinked and said, "Cross out 'Expert.'"
