A One Hundredth Birthday Celebration

The one hundredth birthday of The Rotary Club of Dallas, the first Rotary Club in Texas, is more than just a celebration about one Club. This is a celebration of and for every Rotary Club in Texas as they are in one way or another, descendants of the Dallas Club.

The plans are to celebrate with and recognize the Clubs from around Texas at a Birthday Party as big as Texas. Every Rotarian and their guests are invited to attend this Centennial Celebration in Dallas.

Each Club is encouraged to bring an exhibit featuring the most significant service project their Rotary Club has accomplished. The displays of Club Service Projects will be presented in a tradeshow like setting and serve as a way to recognize and publicize the many and varied impactful ways Rotary has fulfilled its role of "Service Above Self" throughout Texas over the last 100 years.

The celebration begins on Thursday, March 31, 2011 with a Fun, Rotary Charity Golf Tournament. Along with other prizes, a very unusual traveling trophy will be presented to the winning Rotary Club Team.

The Centennial Luncheon on Friday, April 1, 2011 at the Fairmont Hotel will be an event to remember. In addition to entertainment and a multimedia presentation, the keynote speaker will be Rotary International President, Ray Klinginsmith.

Then, Friday evening, Rotarians will experience the fun and fellowship of Home Hospitality just as they do at Rotary International Conventions. During the day on Saturday, April 2, 2011 tours of Dallas cultural, entertainment and historic locations will be available for all to experience.

The climax of the Centennial Celebration is the Ball - An Evening Under the Stars - Saturday, April 2, 2011 at the internationally acclaimed, Nasher Sculpture Center with dinner catered by Wolfgang Puck and dancing to an orchestra yet to be announced.

Kentucky Rotarians raise $142,000 for Polio Eradication

The 2010 Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games in Lexington, Kentucky, USA, in September marked the first time the games have been held in North America, and Kentucky Rotarians were there in force, spreading the news about Rotary's good works and raising money for polio eradication.

Rotarians from throughout the state, and some from other parts of the world, provided the main volunteer workforce for food and beverage stations throughout the Kentucky Horse Park, home of the 16-day competition considered the "Olympics" of the equestrian world.

Through an agreement with event concessionaire Buona Companies, 8 percent of the concession proceeds went to Rotary, allowing volunteers to raise $142,000 for Rotary's US$200 Million Challenge. Rotary volunteers worked a total of 2,829 eight-hour shifts, logging 22,632 volunteer hours.

"The event provided tremendous Rotary exposure," says Robert Ryan, governor of Rotary International District 6740 and a member of the Rotary Club of Lexington. "We helped welcome the world to the games."

The World Equestrian Games are held every four years and this year featured athletes and horses from more than 50 countries competing for world championships in eight equestrian disciplines. More than 500,000 people attended the games, which were broadcast on NBC sports and internationally through the European Broadcast Union.

Rotarians also staffed a booth in the trade show area, handing out literature and copies of a poster of Kentucky Derby-winning jockey Calvin Borel, a participant in Rotary's "This Close" polio eradication public awareness campaign. Volunteers gave out souvenir pins featuring the Equestrian Games and End Polio Now logos in exchange for a $5 donation to polio eradication.

"We were very busy the entire time, but it wasn't a burden," says Sara Callaway, a member of the Rotary Club of Frankfort. "I like to do volunteer work for things I believe in."

"Clubs were encouraged to use the event as a club project to meet their $2,000 annual goal for Rotary's challenge," Ryan says, noting that Rotarians received credit for their club for each shift they worked or recruited friends or family to work. Individual Rotarians earned Foundation recognition points.

"I heard from one Rotarian volunteer that by taking part and meeting other Rotarians from all over the country and world, he felt very comfortable going to and visiting other Rotary clubs where he hadn't before," Ryan says. "This event helped break down barriers within Rotary."

RI President Ray Klingensmith and his wife, Judie, attended the opening ceremonies of the games, helping kick off the volunteer effort. John Germ, Rotary Foundation trustee vice chair, and his wife, Judy, worked several volunteer shifts. Ryan's aide, Dean Hammond, coordinated the volunteer pool, while Past District Governor Tom Ashford also provided support.

Local Rotarians opened their homes to Rotarians who traveled from other areas to volunteer.

The Lexington Rotary club plans to raise additional funds for polio eradication by auctioning off several items, including a basketball signed by Klingensmith and University of Kentucky men's basketball coach John Calipari, fliers autographed by Borel, and several commemorative baseball caps signed by Calipari.

Today's Thoughts in Honor of ....

Eat a Red Apple Day – December 1

"Ever since Eve started it all by offering Adam the apple, woman's punishment has been to supply a man with food then suffer the consequences when it disagrees with him."

- Helen Rowland (1875 – 1950)

Repeal Day – December 6 – The 21st Amendment ends Prohibition

The wine urges me on, the bewitching wine, which sets even a wise man to singing and to laughing gently and rouses him up to dance and brings forth words which were better unspoken.

Is This Seat Taken?

When the usher noticed a man stretched across three seats in the theater, he walked over and whispered, "Sorry, sir, but you are allowed only one seat."

The man moaned but didn't budge.

"Sir, if you don't move, I'll have to call the manager," said the usher more loudly. The man moaned again but stayed where he was.

The usher left and returned with the manager, who, after several attempts at dislodging the fellow, called the police.

The cop looked at the reclining man and said, "All right, what's your name, joker?"

"Joe," he mumbled.

"And where are you from, Joe?"

"The balcony."
